

Finance Report Summary, Financial Year 2019/20 February 2020

Executive Summary

February 2020 represents the eleventh month of the financial year. At the end of the month the year end position is showing a small surplus. The Data Protection Fee income is now forecast exceed target by the year end.

The ICO has approved a more ambitious fee income recovery/collection programme for the remainder of the year. This is mitigating the shortfall faced by the fee income over the first two quarters of the year. At the end of February the shortfall is being recovered and the forecast is now to exceed the initial fee income target by the year end.

The staffing costs include the pay award for the year

The travel and legal budgets are both facing considerable pressure and the year-end forecasts for each have been updated to reflect the potential overspend against each area. Both of these budgets are forecast to be greater than the initial budget set which is a reflection of the increase in demands on the organisation.

Office costs include the costs associated with the increase in provision in connection to the dilapidations of new leases the ICO has taken on in year.

There is an increase in other income which is due to increased income to cover the costs of pensions and additional income to partly offsets the costs of litigation.

Income

The DP income for the month of December is positive by £700k against the budget for the month. Overall it is positive against the year to date budget by £462k. Year to date, the ICO has collected Data Protection fees of £42.8m against a budget of £42.4m.

For the remainder of the financial year the organisation is assumed to be back on profile for the Data Protection fee income and recovering the shortfall and having a year end position that is £1m better than the budget. There is considerable work underway reviewing the Data Protection register to identify and then contact the organisations and individuals that are legally obliged but have not yet registered.

The Grant in Aid income covers income for Freedom of Information - £3.75m for the full year, NIS (Network and Information Systems Regulations) - £500k for the full year, eIDAS (electronic identification and trust services) -£46k for the full year and IPA (Investigatory Powers Act) - £330k for the full year. This is all on track for the year and is received in tranches.

Other income mainly includes a budgeted £1m of income from DCMS to cover the increase in pension costs, this has recently been confirmed at a higher rate of £1.442m, which has now been included in the latest forecast. This is for one year only and offsets a corresponding cost in the staffing budget.

Also within the full year forecast there is additional income of £600k to cover litigation costs. With the significant legal costs involved in litigation linked to fines DCMS are looking to partly offset these within year. The ICO are currently in dialogue to agree a longer term model to recover the costs of litigation connected with issuing fines.

Expenditure

A number of lines of expenditure are outside the expected outturn, with Travel and Legal, Professional & Other being prominent. Travel expenditure will need careful monitoring and management. Legal expenses are also tracking above the anticipated levels of spend. Work has been carried out to forecast all lines of expenditure and income to the end of the financial year. Expenditure on travel and legal are tracking at much higher levels than budgeted and are expected to be adverse to budget for the full financial year. The office costs include the increase in provision required for dilapidations.

Project spend includes the cost of the work associated with the DP fee income collection. Other previously identified savings to offset the dip in income have now been released allowing the works to proceed

The staffing budget includes the assumed increase in costs of higher pension contributions and includes assumptions on the cost of Career Progression and revalorisation. The year end figure now includes the costs of the pay award.

End of year position:

The year end is forecast to be a small surplus. Further work is continuing with the fee income and this will be reviewed in March.
